

Sponsorship Pledge Information

Membership Event Sponsorship Options Oregon Chapter of the Wildlife Society

Elk Sponsorship ($3,000 or more)

Benefits of sponsorship: Conference registration waiver (3), recognition in program and on presentation screens, recognition on our online platforms, display table space available during the conference upon request

Sage Grouse Sponsorship ($2,000 - $2,900)

Benefits of sponsorship: Conference registration waiver (2), recognition in program and on presentation screens, recognition on our online platforms, display table space available during the conference upon request

Spotted Frog Sponsorship ($1,000 - $1,999)

Benefits of sponsorship: Conference registration waiver (1), recognition in program and on presentation screens, recognition on our online platforms, display table space available during the conference upon request

Oregon Silverspot Sponsorship ($500 - $999)

Benefits of sponsorship: Recognition in program and on presentation screens, recognition on our online platforms, display table space available during the conference upon request

Keynote Speaker Sponsor (Full at $999 or half at $500): covers registration, accommodation, and travel expenses for plenary speakers.

Western Bumblebee Sponsorship ($250 - $499)

Benefits of sponsorship: Recognition in program and on presentation screens, recognition on our online platforms

Student Sponsor ($400): covers registration and accommodation for a student to attend and participate in the conference.

Frequently Asked Questions

Why consider sponsorship?

The 2024 ORTWS Annual Conference is devoted to the theme of How it's made: Understanding Process & Policy in Wildlife Decision Making. This topic is of interest and benefit to a broad array of private, government, academic and non-governmental groups and individuals in the Pacific Northwest. More than 300 attendees are expected representing a broad set of interests in the region. Showing participation and being recognized as a sponsor throughout the conference conveys support and engagement in this year's conference theme and purpose.

What does my sponsorship support?

Sponsor contributions go toward covering direct costs of conducting the conference and associated workshops, including room and space charges for the venue, technical and plenary program costs, participant interaction forums, poster displays, guest speakers, student support, equipment rentals, capacity-building workshops, and more.

How is my sponsorship recognized?

You will be recognized during announcements at the Annual Conference and with visual displays leading up to and throughout the conference, and in the conference program (depending on the sponsorship level chosen).

What will happen at the Annual Conference?

The Annual Conference is a three-day conference on wildlife science and management which includes technical presentations, focused symposia, professional interaction forums, plenary sessions, and student mentoring events. These events provide opportunities for wildlife students and professionals to learn about, discuss, and potentially influence diverse aspects of wildlife conservation and management.

Who else sponsors this conference?

In the recent past, sponsors have included outdoor product suppliers (e.g., Alpen Optics, Aero Sensor Northwest, Cabela's, J.L. Darling), environmental consultants (e.g., WEST Inc., Turnstone, Mason Bruce & Girard), forest management companies (e.g., Manulife, Port Blakely, Weyerhaeuser), and natural resources agencies (e.g., BLM, USFWS, USFS, ODFW). There are others and we hope the list will continue to grow as sponsoring entities recognize the many benefits of helping sponsor the Annual Conference!