Awards Program – Request for Nominations Oregon Chapter of the Wildlife Society

Each year, ORTWS presents five awards to wildlife professionals and stewards in Oregon, who have shown exemplary achievements in the professional or civic arenas. We ask our members, and other representatives from the wildlife community, to submit nominations for individuals and groups they believe deserving of this recognition. Our Awards Committee will review all nominations, and announce winners at our Annual Conference each February. Please submit all nominations through the link above.

Professional Achievement Awards

David B. Marshall Award

This award recognizes an individual for outstanding contributions and accomplishments in wildlife research, management, education, law enforcement, or public service over the course of their lifetime. Individuals are acknowledged for promoting the advancement of science, the principles of ecology, and the goals of The Wildlife Society by advocating sound wildlife stewardship. Nominee's actions must have resulted in significant contributions in the conservation and increased long-term security of wildlife populations, wildlife habitats, and natural resource values within the state of Oregon. We face many challenges with limited resources and know there are many dedicated biologists out there who deserve special acknowledgment for the extra time and effort they contribute to the management of our wildlife resources.

Originally established as the Lifetime Achievement Award in 1967, this award's name was changed in 2007 in honor of David B. Marshall's lifelong contributions to conservation of wildlife and wildlife habitats, to the wildlife profession, and for his commitments to the ORTWS chapter since its inception.

The Awards Committee requests the following information for all nominees to help make their decision:

- How has this nominee demonstrated outstanding contributions to the wildlife profession over the course of their lifetime? This can include contributions via research, management, conservation, public involvement, education, or law enforcement
- Describe in detail any specific project(s) the nominee has been involved with over their lifetime, which have defined their career and make them deserving of this award
